

F.A.Q – Frequently Asked Questions

If you have any questions or comments feel free to drop us an email.

How can I join of “The O Collection”?

There are two ways to join the website. The first one; you can be nominated by a gallery (This doesn't always guarantee you can become a part of the website). Second you can sign up yourself but we will determine whether you are allowed to join “The O Collection” or not.

Why should I use “The O Collection”

Well, there are several reasons but the most important reasons are, that's it is free and very easy to use for both seller and buyer. To help us achieve the biggest and most up to database of the post-war and contemporary art.

How do I get started?

Well as you can read in question 1, there are several ways but here is the link: <http://www.the-o-collection.com/signin> to the page where you are able to sign in. And we will contact you within one or two days with your log in codes. After that you will be able fill in your personal data which will be displayed on you own gallery page. After that you are able to upload, edit and delete works by the artists you represent and artists whom you have work of available.

A small banner for your own website

Here are the codes for the two banners we have available to put on your website. These banners will direct the person who clicks your banner to your own gallery page on “The O Collection”

Does “The O Collection” charge any money by using their website?

No- we do not charge you anything for using the website to display your gallery/work. In the future this may change but for now it's free.